WILSON GETS BRYAN'S WIRE

Refuses to Announce the Nature of His Reply.

Seagirt, N. J., June 22.—Governor Woodrow Wilson said here that he had received from William J. Bryan the telegram asking him to join in a movement to prevent the election of Judge Parker as temporary chairman of the Baltimore convention and that he would answer it at once. He declined to give any intimation as to the tenor of his reply. He was perfectly willing that Mr. Bryan make the reply public as soon as it was received,
the governor said.
It was his practice, Governor Wilson declared, that any communication from him be left to the recipient to give out and he would have to adhere to his practice in this instance.

"Murphy's" "The Store of Quality"

"One-Third of a Century" Sale

In celebration of thirty-three and one-third years of successful business enterprise, the 617 stores of F. W.
Woolworth Co., situated in all of the principal cities of the United States and Canada, are to hold a record-breaking sale during the week of June 24th to 29th, inclusive. This is to be known as "One-Third of a Century Sale" and during this week this firm proposes to offer to their friends and customers an array of special values in every department that will completely eclipse all previous efforts.

The business of this company was established by F. W. Woolworth in Utica, N. Y., just "One-third of a century" ago. He began with a few hundred dollars worth of mere andise, starting an exclusive store in the old Arcade building, the first store of its kind ever opened. His next stores were opened at Lancaster, Penn., and a line of 100 goods was added, and it was here that the popular 5 and 10 cents business was first established. Later, the well-known firms of S. H. Knox & Co., F.
M. Kirby & Co., C. S. Woolworth &
Co., E. P. Charlton & Co., and W. H.
Moore & Son were established in the same business.

These firms always maintained a friendly relation to each other, their proprietors being intimate personal friends. It was but natural that eventually the interests of these firms should be merged together, as was done last March, the new firm taking the name of "F. W. Woolworth Co."

During all these years, this firm has faithfully followed the original plan of adhering strictly to the popular prices of 5 and 10 cents. Daring recent years, while the prices of nearly all commodities have been constantly advancing, the variety an-value of merchandise offered by the Woolworth stores has been constantly increasing. This has been made possible by the enormous purchasing power of this firm. Every new store opened meant increased purchasing power, and this resulted in better values for the public.

Manufacturers who find it necessary to quickly turn their over-production of stock into ready cash, find in this firm with its unlimited purchasing power, an opportunity to dispose of extraordinary quantities of merchandise. This explains some of the values that will be offered during this sale.

You will do well to carefully watch the windows each day to see some of the special values offered during the week of the sale, and in addition to items advertised in the windows,
there will be placed on the counters
a large variety of other bargains of which no previous announcement will be made.

No such gigantic sale has ever before been attempted by any mercantile organization, and it is the purpose of this firm to make this sale
fittingly celebrate the auspicious event which it commemorates.

They wish to invite their patrons and the public generally to visit their store during the week of this unusual sale that they may secure some of the exceptional bargains that will be offered.

the man in his trunk and carried him

rescued from the trunk of the traveling elephant.

NEW COUNTY MAP

To Show Every Township and the Ownership of Parcels of Land.
Compiled by James Lake

James Lake, of the George A. Ogle engraving and publishing company,
of Chicago, is in the city getting real estate and business men, professional men and others to subscribe for a map which he is compiling of this county. If sufficient patronage is obtained, the map will be published.
It will show each township in detail, giving the ownership of parcels of land.

The map of the county will show
the congressional or government townships and ranges, with numbers; civil and organized townships, by colors, with names; location of cities and villages, railroads, rivers, lakes and postoffices with names.
The township plats of every township in the county will show sections,
roads, railroads, rivers, creeks, lakes,
ponds, churches, cemeteries, schools, mills, postoffices, etc.; the size and shape of tracts of land and farms, owners' names, number of acres they contain, with location of dwellings.
The plats of every city, town and village in the county will show the streets, lots and blocks, with names and numbers. These plats will be engraved on a scale that will plainly show the lines, boundaries and numbers, and they will be colored by additions.

Mr. Lake is meeting with an encouraging amount of success and thinks at the present time that he will be able to get out the plats of the county. They will sell at $15 per book.

MINNEAPOLIS MEN MAKE GOOD HERE

Civic and Commerce Association of Flour City Peacefully Invades
Brainerd Last Night

AN INSPIRING BAND CONCERT

Eloquent Speakers Urge Better Trade Relations Between Brainerd
and Minneapolis

With hundreds of Brainerd people cheering, the big electric sign flashing "welcome" and the streets and walks and depot grounds black with people, the Civic and Commerce association trade extension special train pulled into Brainerd at nine o'clock.

"And talk about your reception," said W. S. Jones, publisher of the Minneapolis Journal, "this is certainly the most cordial welcome our trade excursion has received on the entire trip."

An interesting and enjoyable feature of the visit of the Minneapolis men was the concert given in depot park by the First Infantry band under the direction of Bandmaster Kessler. A half dozen selections were played and the applause was loud and frequent.

During intermissions W. S. Jones read telegrams from the republican convention and it was noticeable that the mention of President Taft's name was the cause of much cheering.

In the intervals many examined the special train which had carried the trade excursion to Brainerd. It was really the finest train that had ever come to Brainerd. It was sumptuously appointed and contained every convenience known to railway travel. It was composed of sleeping cars, a diner observation and parlor car, baggage car and a special business car, carrying General Passenger Agent A. M. Cleland, of St. Paul and other railway officials, while traversing the M. & I. railway territory they were accompanied by W. H. Gemmell, general manager of that system.

The main object of the excursion was to afford the representatives of the Minneapolis jobbing and manufacturing interests an opportunity to personally meet the business men with whom they have established trade relations and also to expand such relations and establish new ones. There were many men in the Minneapolis party who had never been in Brainerd and many more who have never traversed the immense territory to which the Minnesota & International railway is a feeder. It was a campaign of education on both sides. It brought the Minneapolis men in touch with a new region rich in commercial possibilities and it enabled them to make the acquaintance of people hitherto unknown. To many sections, Minneapolis, formerly only read of, now became a concrete reality.

The First Regiment band played in sections of country where no band had ever set foot before and no discourtesy is meant when one states that the band in some sections did as much to advertise Minneapolis as did the eloquent spellbinders of the party.

The following is the list of the trade excursionists:

Aetna Life Insurance Company, J. Edward Meyers; American Tent and Awning Company, C. M. Rawitzer; Bardwell-Robinson Co., Frank H. Gahr; Bradshaw Brothers, Dawson Bradshaw; Butler Brothers, Fred P. The Minneapolis party then went to the club rooms of the Brainerd Commercial club and the speech making started.

Carl Zapffe, president of the Commercial club, presided. In one of his heart to heart talks which made everyone feel at ease, Mr. Zapffe mentioned the delight with which Brainerd welcomed this prominent delegation to the city and hoped this visit would be the means of inaugurating better trade and social relations between Minneapolis and Brainerd, as well as strengthening the ones now existing. "And when you have another excursion," said Mr. Zapffe, "do not forget to put Brainerd on your route."

G. Roy Clark gave a short talk and said that each reception the delegation had met with had been more cordial than the preceding one. One of the prominent members of his party said: "Well, that last one was pretty good. But wait till we get to Brainerd. That's a live, bustling town and they'll give us one that will eclipse anything that's ever happened. And judging by the way we have been welcomed in your hospitable city, his prediction was correct."

Mayor H. P. Dunn extended a welcome in behalf of Brainerd, the city that was growing in wealth and population and was destined to become one of the greatest of Minnesota. He referred to the rich mineral and agricultural lands surrounding Brainerd, to its immense railway shops, to the numerous health and summer resorts in the vicinity.

George Dayton's speech paid a glowing tribute to agriculture. "I love Minnesota. I love the land. There is something fascinating about it," said the prominent Minneapolis merchant. The safest, surest foundation for the future of the state.

UNIVERSITY WEEK CLOSES TONIGHT

Glee Club Program at the Opera House This Evening Marks the End of the Entertainments

J. H. SHERLOCK'S GOOD WORK

He Managed the University Week
Lectures at Luverne, Rochester and Brainerd

What has proved to be a week of practical and inspirational value, closes tonight with a first class concert by the Glee club of the state university.

That University week has been worth while is the consensus of opinion by which it brought to the doors of the people. Altogether about fifty themes have been illustrated, discussed and lectured upon, and it can surely be said that each theme was vital and handled by the best the university has to send forth to the people.

While the movement can be said to be merely embryonic or initiatory, it being the first work of its kind the state university has assayed to do, yet it has been brought to such a successful issue in every town and city where university week has held forth, that next year will see the movement carried out in a larger scale, possibly reaching more cities than the work done this year.

J. H. Sherlock
Manager of University Week

While Brainerd is conceded to be largely an industrial city, where the men are busy from morning till evening, yet the promoters are highly pleased with the audiences which have found time to attend the series of great lectures on the many practical and important subjects morning, afternoon and evening.

J. H. Sherlock, the university's manager who has spent the entire week looking after the lecturers, program, and the thousand and one things which such a movement incurs, bestowing an indefatigable amount of labor during the entire week which closes tonight and in many ways showing himself a master of assemblies, said relative to the week's work in Brainerd: "Yes, we feel amply repaid by the way the citizens of Brainerd have appreciated the great work which the versatile round of scientists, lecturers, educators, expert agriculturists, readers, musicians, etc., as sent forth by the state university have tried to do throughout the week. Few people realize the amount of time, talent, and money, which this movement requires to keep going; but we believe that the results will be found far reaching. I have nothing but the very best of words to say to the citizens of your busy city who have patronized University week. In behalf of the State University, the host of workers who have been before the people of Brainerd, and personally we thank all."

Mr. Sherlock has been managing University week at Luverne, Rochester and Brainerd, and is an educator well known throughout the southern part of the state.

He had nothing but praise for the local workers who have rallied to the support of the work done in Brainerd during the week and whose labors have gone to make it a success.

A Rare Musical Treat

A rare musical treat is in store for the music lovers of Brainerd July 10th at eight P. M. at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church. The Winnesaukee County Norwegian male chorus of Decorah, Iowa, consisting of twenty-five voices, under the leadership of Prof. Carlo A. Sperati, musical director at Luther College same place, will give a concert in Brainerd on their way to Fargo, N. D., where they partake in the great Sangerfest July 12th and following days. Prof. Sperati is known from coast to coast as an unusually able instructor and leader and his appearance here with singers thoroughly trained under his guidance, will be a notable event in the musical history of Brainerd.

Opportunities of this kind are few and far between in this neck of the woods and lovers of music of this class should not miss this rare treat.

Business.

"To sell a coat to a man that wants a coat is nothing," said a successful tailor when instructing his son in the rudiments of his business, "but to sell a coat to a man that doesn't want a coat—that's business."

Kyllo-Treglawny

The residence of Mrs. L. B. Treglawny, 514 Juniper street, was the scene of a handsomely planned and carried out wedding this morning, when Miss Hazel Winnifred Treglawny was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Herbert Clayton Kyllo.

The wedding took place at 11 o'clock and was witnessed by a large company of guests among whom were several from out of town.

The bride was handsomely attired in a gray going away gown and carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas and walked to the improvised altar, which was banked with potted palms and prettily arranged ferns, unattended, while the groom, also unattended, awaited the bride. Miss Effie Drexler, who wore a dress of white marquisette over blue, stood by the bride, and Thomas Templeton assisted the groom during the pretty ceremony.

Mrs. Treglawny played the wedding march while the wedding group quietly arranged themselves at the altar, and the marriage lines of the Methodist Episcopal church were read by the Rev. Charles Fox Davis as the strains of "Oh, Promise Me," softly came from the piano, the ring service of the church being used.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the thirty guests present. The suite of rooms were darkened and prettily illuminated for the occasion and the color scheme consisted of pink carnations, pink tapers, and the candelabra richly hued with the same, together with the table cards which were pink carnations done in water colors. The young couple were the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents from their many friends.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. E. R. Streeter and Mrs. E. A. Boor, of Minneapolis.

The young couple left on the afternoon train for Superior, Duluth and Minneapolis, and will be home to their friends in the city by the end of June.

Both of the young people are well and popularly known in Brainerd. Mrs. Kyllo having been born here, a graduate of the high school, and an accomplished musician, and Mr. Kyllo is a machinist in the N. P. shops. The Dispatch joins with their many friends in wishing for them a most pleasant future.

Circus Today Brings Back Memories
—Parade is Fine and Big Crowd
Attends Afternoon Show

Where is the man who hath not said with joy unspeakable and a reverence for the dear old days, "this is Circus Day!" "Circus Day," the very mention of that time recalls long forgotten joys with the vividness of a first impression. You recall the street parade and those who crowded your childish person off the walk. You see the elephants with slowly swinging majestic strides, all heedless of his hollow pomp and gilded servitude some far off dream of the snow fed rivers and nepaul in his mind.

The horses, white and gleaming from powder, bend their necks in harmony with the music and prance along as knowingly as if they enjoyed their art, and the billowy tent—with pennants floating from every pole—you remember, resentfully, to this day that some of the uncopious called the circus "a tent covered aggregation of sin."

Some bachelor uncle, some lover of children, some fellow who was stuck on your oldest sister, used to take you to the circus in those days. How delicious to your nose was the odor of tramped grass and to your ears, how welcome the first blatant bugle blare. The baby elephant, as in a spirit of humor, stuck his cool, moist snout under your chin and puffed a cloud or gust down your shirt front and laughed at you with his little eyes as if to tell you it was all in fun and the clown who yielded up enough cats out of a big stomach pump when they had a fit—but what is the use to talk of it?

If you were a beautiful soul in bliss, so long from earth that every memory of your worldly sorrow were all forgotten and there should drift over the Jasper walls the odor of trampled grass and the faint far off blare of the first burst of music in the circus ring, why, you would be sad for a moment—even in paradise.

Thirty (30) clowns furnish fun and folly, amble through artistic antics and jumble jovial high jinks and jest-jollity. Every minute of the performance is one superlative scream of laughter. You'll shout till your sides ache.

Under acres of mammoth tents a new world is brought before you by this, the best circus on earth, with wealth of glitter and sparkle, gold and color, and its rich outpouring of music and melody, life and gladness. The parade at 10:30 was excellent and shows Gollmar Bros. are steadily advancing. The event was put on promptly at 10 o'clock, which in itself was a source of pleasure. It was witnessed by a great crowd, with the usual number of small boys. The afternoon performance was well attended and a still larger crowd is expected tonight.

Ends Hunt For Rich Girl

Often the hunt for a rich wife ends when the man meets a woman that uses Electric Bitters. Her strong nerves tell in a bright brain and even temper. Her peach-bloom complexion and ruby lips result from her pure blood; her bright eyes from restful sleep; her elastic step from firm, free muscles, all telling of the health and strength Electric Bitters give a woman, and the freedom from indigestion, backache, headache, fainting and dizzy spells they promote. Everywhere they are woman's favorite remedy. If weak or ailing try them. 50c at all druggists.

KEEN KUTTER Mowers are fast cutting and easy running because of the double gear and the fine ball bearings. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES' SEAL DIES OF OLD AGE

Has Seen Three Wars and Only Five Democratic Presidents in 82 Years.

After eighty-two years of service, crimping the parchment of official house documents, the great seal of the house of representatives, made in the administration of Martin Van Buren, in 1830, is to be discarded for a new one which was officially authorized by resolution of the house.

The house seal is being laid away because it has now become so worn as to make impressions taken from it almost illegible. It is not ostentatious, but plain, everyday old age, that killed this ancient seal, which has been continuously in use since 1830 and challenges other seals, great and small, in any part of the world to show a greater record of activity.

The resolution authorizing the new seal as passed reads:

"That the clerk of the house is instructed to provide a new seal for the house of representatives which shall preserve the same design and inscription as the present seal, but shall now have forty-five stars emblematic of the forty-eight states of the Union, instead of the twenty-four stars now upon the present seal, which represent the twenty-four states constituting the Union at the time of the adoption of the present seal.

The design on the old seal is a view of the old capitol, without the dome and wings, as it appeared in 1830, surrounded by the twenty-four stars. The new design will have a star inserted between each of these twenty-four, making forty-eight in all. Andrew Stevenson of Virginia was speaker of the house when this old seal was made. Since then there have been twenty-four speakers and three wars—the Mexican, the civil, and the Spanish—through which this seal has been used. In all that time there have been but five Democratic presidents—Van Buren, Polk, Pierce, Buchanan and Cleveland.

This seal is used in stamping every subpoena, as well as every other of legal document of the house issued by authority of that body, and its impression is so faint that the outlines of the old capitol and even the bordering stars cannot be discerned.

SIRENS OF THE SANDS.

Gold Laden Professional Dancing Girls of North Africa.

The distinctive thing about the Ouled Nail, the professional dancing girl of north Africa, is her jewelry. She has so much of it, indeed, that there is no gold to be had in Algeria. Ask for napoleons instead of paper money at your bank in Biskra or Constantine and you will meet with a prompt "Impossible, m'sieur."

"But why is it impossible?" you naturally inquire. "Because we have no gold on hand, m'sieur," is the polite response. "Where is it then?" you ask, scenting a robbery or a defalcation. "On the Ouled Nails, m'sieur," the cashier courteously replies.

And he speaks the truth. Every centime that a dancing girl can beg, borrow or earn goes toward the purchase of massive silver jewelry, anklets, bracelets and the like, and this in turn is exchanged for gold pieces—whether French napoleons, British sovereigns or Turkish liras she is not particular—which, linked together in tressled armor, clanking, clashing and shining, envelops her lithe young body from neck to hips. When her portable wealth has attained such dimensions it is usually the sign for the Ouled Nail to retire from business, going to her nomad husband with her dowry about her neck.—Metropolitan Magazine.

A UNIQUE RECORD

Very Few Like it in Our Broad Republic

Home testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago a citizen of Brainerd gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

Mrs. P. M. Bislar, 412 S. 12th St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "Our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been very satisfactory. They have proven most effective in relieving lumbago, dull pains in the loins and trouble with the kidney secretions. About two years ago a member of my family publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills, after using them with great benefit. That testimonial still holds good."

MAKE GOOD HERE

dation of any community was the successful tillage of the soil. It suggested to the Commercial club various methods to stimulate the interest of the farmers in the raising of pigs, cattle and sheep and told how the raising of sheep by his son had caused him to become imbued with the love for the soil and the raising of sheep.

W. H. Gemmell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railway, said in part, that the Minneapolis men were now returning with clear notions of the needs and possibilities of this northern section. They were informed first hand about things and would co-operate in the matter of good roads. They had seen the difficulties the pioneers had to contend with and would do all the could to assist in the development of northern Minnesota.

G. A. Will's address was in favor of the good roads movement. The delegation was convinced that not then Minnesota needed only good roads and the rest would take care of itself. If the Dunn good roads bill was adopted, there would be over $1,000,000 to spend on roads. He complimented the good roads in evidence near Akeley, Park Rapids and Wadena. "Give us good roads and we will visit you frequently. Your summer resorts are beautiful and we want to visit them all."

R. R. Wise spoke on the possibilities and the present conditions of resources in Crow Wing county. "Crow Wing county is one of the wealthiest counties in Minnesota and when fully developed will excel even your Ramsey and Hennepin counties. We can raise everything from iron to alfalfa. One of the boosters in your own Minneapolis party said to me: 'I ever figure on making a change, I will go to Crow Wing county.'"

J. E. Meyer delivered an address full of praise for Minnesota and this section. He stated the Aetna Life insurance company, which he represented, had loaned $11,000,000 on Minnesota farm lands and there never had been a defaulting of interest on a single loan made. "For beautiful scenery and summer resorts you have the rest of the state and the entire country beaten."

Senator C. O. Johnson gave one of his eloquent orations. "I am no talker," said the senator. I am an orator. An orator has to be inspired. We are important because we feel important. We have no relics, no battlefields, no monuments to show you. We are a live city and a live community." Senator Johnson's address breathed optimism, good fellowship and a fraternal feeling and the hope for better relations between Brainerd and Minneapolis.

A. M. Cleland, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway, told of the booklet the railway was soon to issue and distribute by the millions, advertising Minnesota and its resources and he asked the co-operation of all to assist in giving it a wide circulation and asked also that personal letters be written to people who might be led to emigrate to Minnesota.

President Zapffe made the closing address and the Minneapolis men gave three cheers for Brainerd, President Zapffe, the Commercial club, Mayor Dunn, Messrs. Gemmell, Wise and Johnson and the cheers roared out in answer when Brainerd gave three cheers for Minneapolis. The gentlemen then retired to their train, enjoyed a good night's sleep and left Brainerd at 7:30 Saturday morning.

In commenting on the trip, W. S. Jones, of the Minneapolis Journal, said: "I am imbued with the feeling that this trip will be of lasting benefit to the Minneapolis men. The majority of us have never seen this northern country. This is my first visit in Brainerd. The lands we have seen are destined to become the cream of the agricultural section of the state and in five years will more than double in value. This is the best trade extension trip ever made by Minneapolis men, will produce greater results and a get-together feeling of immeasurable benefit to all concerned."

George D. Dayton: "I was, of course delighted with the northern part of the state. As we rode along this morning on the Minnesota & International railway, I was able to see the wonderful development that will take place all along the line in a few years.

H. E. Wilcox: "All praise to the territory to the north of Brainerd! You have the climate, the soil and the resources. The towns that we visited all show signs of growth. I look to see Winnipeg the terminal of one of the greatest centers in this part of the state some day."

G. Roy Clark: "The air that one breathes in this country is an indication of what one might expect. One would have to be healthy in such a climate, and how proud we should be that this territory is in our state. The men we met along the way were all progressive citizens, and are the sort that will bring other settlers of the industrious sort into the community."

H. W. Kixmoeller: "The combination of soil, scenery and industry that obtains all along the line of the M. & I. railway is a lesson to us. At one time, Minnesota was wont to speak of this district as a wilderness. That time is passed. The district is the great Lake Park Region, a place where tourists can come and enjoy themselves and where settlers can come with their families and form the most substantial of cities."

Stanley Bezoier: "Northern Minnesota is great. Brainerd is a handsome city, and I like the people here. Those pine trees along the M. & I. are inspiring. I understand the soil is most fertile and well adapted to all sorts of agriculture. I am glad that we have such a vast territory yet to develop. Already, the farmers are coming into the tracts formerly entirely thought of as timber lands."

D. D. Tenney, of the Crookston Lumber company told Cyril Mitchell that the land along the M. & I. is some day to be known from coast to coast as the valley "fertile as the valley of the Nile and the Euphrates." "Mr. Tenney seemed to know what he was talking about," said Mr. Byers.

E. C. Kischel: "Once in a while a man comes to the fore who works in a quiet way without his efforts attracting much attention. Then, suddenly, he world hears of some great development. A search is made for the cause and it is usually traced to some indefatigable, intelligent worker. Such a worker is Mr. Gemmell. He has been at work on the Minnesota & International for a long time. One can see that the work is dear to him. We saw the results of that work today. All praise to him!"

F. L. McClellan: "I am very much impressed with all of the northern section of the state which we have passed through. To the man who is looking for a small farm, for diversified farming, he could not do better than to come to this section. All grasses can be grown in abundance for stock raising, and with the proper manipulation of the soil, grain and vegetables can be raised equal to any in the United States."
